John "JC" Luffman, president right, and his daughter, Lisa Eliot, left, vice president of sales, run the company with Bryan Luffman, plant superintendent, and Joel Luffman, inventory management. Together, they have more than 120 years of hosiery production experience.

"We're unique in that we tackle projects that most folks won't do, from fishnet to lace-top thigh highs. We have 27 styles in the exotic market. We'll make about anything anybody wants. We take pride in producing a quality product and of course its produce here in the United States. Our customers find that we are more flexible than many operations and we can do smaller orders. We can deliver within two weeks and can get a sample out the same day a lot of times but always within a week."
